

Les Vignerons du Narbonnais Saint Baurois Chardonnay Réserve IGP 2020

The chardonnay grape matures in the Languedoc under almost ideal conditions. The grapes for this wine come from roughly the same area as those for Saint Baurois Viognier, from vineyards around the cities of Narbonne, Beziers and Montpellier, from the same winemakers as Dumanet Chardonnay. The clayey soils in the lower parts of the Languedoc are an ideal substrate for planting chardonnay, as this grape needs a soil that retains moisture well. This makes for a wonderfully fruity and wood-aged Chardonnay here, with a hint of vanilla. But the fruit remains paramount here. A successful example of what the Pays d'Oc has to offer in terms of delicious white.

Saint Baurois Chardonnay Réserve tastes great with lots of ripe fruit like apricots and peaches and with flavors of vanilla, nuts and toast. The finish is soft and creamy with a long aftertaste.
